CIRCULAR.—We beg to announce to our friends and the public generally that we have determined to add to our business of MERCANTILE SALESMEN that of LAND and ESTATE AUCTIONEERS and STOCK and STATION AGENTS.

THE LAND and ESTATE SALES will be conducted in the suitable and convenient rooms adjoining the CITY MART, and will be under the personal supervision of our Mr. R. F. STUBBS, whose long and varied experience, extending over many years in Victoria and this city, renders him eminently qualified for this branch of the business.

For the conduct of our public sales of Cargoes and general Merchandise, we have secured the services of Mr. L. E. THERLKELD, whose sole attention as Salesman and Broker will be devoted to the interests of the mercantile constituency.

The increasing demand for freehold properties, and the importance attaching to this branch, coupled with the urgent advice of many friends, have induced R. F. STUBBS and CO. to extend their operations, and they can only assure their constituents, and those who may favour them with their business, that every exertion will be made to carry out in its integrity all the requirements of this department.

SPECIAL DAYS will be devoted to THE SALE OF COLONIAL PRODUCE; and BANK STOCK, INSURANCE and STEAM SHARES will occupy a leading feature in this extension of their business.

An efficient Surveyor will be engaged for surveying estates, preparing plans, and affording all professional information in the interests of vendors and purchasers.

MESSRS. J. M. CROSBY AND CO., CHEMISTS, Scarborough, writes as follows:—

"9th September, 1872.

"James Hudson, Burr Bank, Scarborough, having suffered eight years from scurvy, ulcerated ankle, and abscess, and having taken six bottles of your world-famed Blood Mixture, is perfectly cured. He had spent pounds in doctors and chemists' medicines previously, and he is anxious that the properties of such a valuable medicine should be more known."

CURES OF SORES OF FOUR YEARS' STANDING.

"1, Cross-street, Ryde, Isle of Wight,
"16th November, 1872.

"Dear Sir,—My wife has taken nine bottles of your world-famed Blood Mixture. When she commenced, half of her face and eyebrows were covered with sores, brought on by fright about four years ago. She has been under the treatment of six different doctors, and all of no good, but since taking your Blood Mixture, all the sores are gone. I am thankful that I heard of your medicine, and only wish I had years before.

"I am, sir, your obedient servant.
"R. MALLARD."

CURE OF SCROFULOUS SORES.

"Trinity-street, Smethwick, near Birmingham,
"30th July, 1872.

"Mr. Clarke.—Sir,—My husband, I am glad to say, is quite cured, and is now able to attend to his business. His complaint was scrofulous sores; and he had been bad about eight years. He went to several doctors, and spent many pounds in trying different remedies, but still grew worse, and had kept his bed for the last two years, except a few hours at intervals. The discharge from the sores made him so weak, every one thought him in a consumption. We tried to get him in several institutions, but they would not admit him, as I believe they thought him past cure. The sores extended nearly all over his back and chest. It took one hour each day to dress the wounds, and the pain almost took his reason away. Nothing did him any good until we heard of your Blood Mixture. My husband is well known here; he is a house-agent and collector. The people are quite astonished, and it has induced many to try the Mixture. You are at liberty to make any use of this you please. Accept our grateful thanks.—I am, very respectfully,
"JANE MOWLAM."

CURE OF DREADFUL SKIN DISEASE.

"2, Albert-place, Southend, Essex.
"December, 1872.

"Dear Sir,—I write to express my sincere thanks to you, thanking God at the same time, for I am indeed greatly indebted to Him and also to you. I wrote some time ago for a case of your world-famed Blood Mixture, and it—the one case—has thoroughly. I believe cured me of a dreadful skin disease which I had for three or four years. I have waited some weeks since I finished the Mixture, but I do not see the least symptoms of the disease returning. It has cost me pounds and pounds, as I have been to several physicians in London, and two hospitals, and one single case of your medicine has completely cured me. I have recommended it to a friend who has had a skin disease, of a different nature to mine, for several years, and he is getting on very nicely indeed. Please receive my best heartfelt thanks, as I remain, yours truly,
"JOHN COUSENS."

JOSEPHSON'S AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT is the STANDARD OINTMENT OF NEW SOUTH WALES.

THE AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT has now been before the public for seven years, has stood the public test, and has proved itself the best and purest and most universally useful OINTMENT ever yet known. It is composed of plants natural to this colony, and can only be made here, as the materials grow nowhere else, therefore the

AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT
MUST BE THE STANDARD OF NEW SOUTH WALES,

and stands unrivalled. The wonderful cures it has affected, which is proved by the following testimonials from parties of undoubted respectability, and who can at once be communicated with, and the large and daily increasing demand, prove it to be still pre-eminent over anything of the kind yet known. The AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT is of a "PURE GREEN COLOUR," the natural extract of the plants from which it is made, and totally free from any and all deleterious and poisonous properties. £500,000 will be given to any one that can prove the AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT to be anything else than what it is here stated to be. High and low, rich and poor, have received vast benefits from its use, and scarcely any house can now be found without it; and the Australian Ointment is now the household word of the country. The quick and instant relief from pain, and the speedy and miraculous cures are

which taken altogether, prove the Australian Ointment to be the EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD. It cures sores and tender eyes, stiffness of joints, excoriations, chapped hands and lips, bunions, soft corns, deafness, and all casualties attending the human frame succumb to the all-healing properties of

THIS AUSTRALIAN OINTMENT.

The Australian Ointment is not a mere catchpenny to gull the public, as it has been so well proved for the last seven years, that it is impossible the public could have been so long deceived. In fact, people are naturally so incredulous regarding its efficacy (never having used any article of the kind before which affords such instant relief), that they really cannot believe in its virtue. But one trial will convince the most unbelieving.

The public are now politely requested to read the following testimonials, as no doubt among the parties named they will find some acquaintance or friends, from whom inquiries may be made.

Staffordshire Warehouse, 511, George-street South, Sydney, 21st August, 1872.

To Edward Row, Esq.—Dear Sir,—I cannot allow this opportunity to pass without bearing testimony to the wonderfully properties of your Australian Ointment, a pot of which I obtained, and one application of the same to some severe contusions on my forehead (occasioned by a fall) a cure was effected in a few hours, and the skin is as perfect as before injury. I feel so thankful at the result that I make this acknowledgment, and you are at liberty to make use of this letter in any way you think proper.

I am, dear Sir, yours respectfully,
GEORGE LANE.

Miller's Point, Sydney,
16th September, 1872.

Messrs. Edward Row and Co., Pitt-street, Sydney.

Gentlemen,—I have much pleasure in testifying to the wonderful curative effects of your Australian Ointment on my leg, which has been bad with a large sore since the year 1858. I have tried various remedies without success, but by the application of your Australian Ointment the leg is rapidly becoming sound and well; indeed, I consider the cure is already nearly completed. Many of my friends have always thought the wound would never be healed, but that it would be the death of me.

I feel it to be my duty to make this known to the public, and leave you to publish it in any way you please.

I am, gentlemen,
Yours respectfully,
S. DAVIS.

P.S.—I am now as strong on the leg as the other.
S. D.

Sydney, January 14, 1872.

Messrs. E. Row and Co., Gentlemen,—The following instance of a cure by your Australian Ointment, I can verify as a fact. A friend of mine had an eruption on the chin of upwards of forty years' standing; he applied about half a pot of your ointment, which made a perfect cure.
SAMUEL HEBBLEWHITE.

Dotswood, Queensland, November, 1871.

The Australian Ointment you gave me is the only cure I have yet seen or used for the celebrated Kounady Rot. One or two bad ones I only dressed twice, and they are free from pain, and healing fast.

Yours faithfully,
WM. SMITH.

To Mr. E. Row,—I enclose the letter I received from Mr. William Smith, a friend of mine, the manager of Dotswood station, about fifty miles from Townsville. I sent him two pots of the Australian Ointment; he speaks very highly of it. Do what you like with this letter.

Messrs. E. Row and Co., 219, Pitt-street, Sydney.

Dear Sirs,—I had a tumour on my neck for some time; was recommended to go to a medical man that he might remove it. I did not like to be operated on, and was induced through your advertisement to try the Australian Ointment. I am happy and truly thankful to inform you that before using one 1s 6d pot of the ointment the tumour had disappeared without pain or inconvenience. I have also tried it in a severe and painful case of excoriation; it is nearly well. I consider it to be my duty to acknowledge the same to you, with permission to use this statement as you think proper. I trust you will have a large sale for it—I am sure the benefit will be to the purchaser.

I am, dear sirs, yours truly and obliged,

To Mr. Whitford, chemist, Grafton.

Sir,—I hereby certify that the Josephson's Australian Ointment made a perfect cure of my child's face, aged ten months, caused by her falling into the fryingpan, while on the fire, and which contracted the muscles of the face; after being under medical treatment by a medical man, at a cost to me of £11, without success. I am induced by your recommendation to try Josephson's Australian Ointment, which resulted in a perfect cure after using one pot.

LINGARD'S CELEBRATED COUGH LINCTUS FOR COUGHS, COLDS, AND ALL DISORDERS OF THE CHEST AND LUNGS.
TRY IT.

The essential properties of this medicine are found to be of so soothing a nature as to subdue the most inveterate Cough, and to produce in the Debilitated and Consumptive a gradual revival of the healthy functions of the Chest, exciting the vital energy of the Lungs to a healthy reaction, and thereby inducing a more natural stimulus to the respiratory organs; thus restoring the whole functional derangement from a state of gradual decay, and resuscitating it in all its various ramifications to primitive health and strength. If you suffer from Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Influenza, Hoarseness, Spitting of Blood, Incipient Consumption, or any disorder of the Lungs or chest, procure a bottle of Lingard's celebrated Cough Linctus,—you will find it to give instant relief, and may rely upon a speedy cure. In recent Coughs and Colds, a single bottle will generally effect a perfect cure. This agreeable preparation loosens the congealed phlegm, therefore causing a free expectoration, and entirely removing that distressing complaint so common to our climate; and, as it contains nothing of an injurious nature, may be taken by the most delicate, and at any period of life.

ELEVEN CASES OF LINGARD'S COUGH LINCTUS are now landed. THE SALE OF THIS EXTRAORDINARY MEDICINE IN THE UNITED KINGDOM IS NOW 80,000 BOTTLES EVERY WEEK. Prepared only in bottles by JOSEPH LINGARD, Cheadle, England, with the Government stamp affixed to each bottle, to counterfeit which is felony.

CAUTION TO PURCHASERS.

The value of this well-known Family Medicine has been largely tested in all parts of the world, and by all grades of society, for upwards of FIFTY YEARS. Purchasers are, therefore, requested carefully to observe the four following distinctive characteristics, without which none are genuine:—

1. In every case the words JOHN STEEDMAN, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, are engraved on the Government stamp affixed to EACH PACKET.
2. Each SINGLE POWDER has directions for the dose, and the words John Steedman, Chemist, Walworth, Surrey, printed thereon.

ACETOPATHY—THE ACID REMEDY, or the SPINAL SYSTEM OF TREATMENT.

EXTRACTS FROM PRESS ON THE ACETOPATHIC TREATMENT.

The ENGLISH CHURCHMAN, 13th March, 1873.—"Physicians learned in their profession admit that there may be something new in the untried. For instance, this new creation, Acetopathy, which has so lately brought itself under public notice, and is aspiring to a scientific name, is worthy of more than a mere passing remark. The many agencies in all parts of the kingdom are a proof that the public is anxious to test this new curative agent. The theory of the treatment is reasonable."

ONCE A WEEK, 31st August, 1872, says:—"We have to thank one Mr. Coutts, a Scotchman, who has established himself in Mecklenburgh-square, for introducing a new 'sympathy' to Londoners. He hails from the 'Land o' Cakes' and shrewd men, where his Acetopathy is in high repute for effecting cures. From his pamphlet we gather that the modus operandi is very simple. His treatise is arranged in the form of questions and answers. There are testimonials from persons who have been cured, or have derived benefit from the treatment; and, as it seems to be based upon principles not only scientific, but also in accordance with common sense, it is likely to find many persons willing to give it a fair trial. After carefully reading the arguments for Acetopathy, there is so much in its favour that we should be the last to condemn it unheard."

THE WATCHMAN, September 1, 1872—"A new system for the treatment of fevers, &c. The system is simple, causes little inconvenience, and can be used at home or travelling."

THE CHRISTIAN NEWS, August 10, 1872.—"We would cordially recommend it ('The Spinal System of Treatment') to those who have not yet used the acid or seen any of the publications on this new mode of treatment of disease; and to those who are using the acid it will prove invaluable as a guide in their operations."

THE CHRISTIAN NEWS, March 15, 1873.—"The Salcoats Mission Home Report gives a large place to show that Mr. Coutts' Acid Cure has been most successful."

THE ENGLISH GOOD TEMPLAR, November 1, 1872 says:—"This system has been practised very successfully for some time in Glasgow and throughout Scotland, and is now introduced into London. A little study of its principles shows that there are good reasons for its success, and we reasonably infer that this system will be a great boon to many sufferers who have been unable, hitherto, to get any relief for their ailments."

THE CITY PRESS, February 1, 1873.—"The chief principle is that disease must be attacked at the centres of the nervous system, and it is contended that Acetopathy affords the most simple and handy means of all known modes of medical treatment; while at the same time it has the advantage of being suited to all purses, and also speedy in its operations. Those who have tried it speak well of this system."

METHODIST RECORDER, September 13, 1872.—"New System for Acute and Chronic Diseases.—It (the Acetic Acid) is so cheap that it comes within the reach of the poorest. Some remarkable cures are recorded in the testimonials given in the pamphlets."

EXTRACT from letter in LONDON WEEKLY REVIEW, 31st August, 1872.—"A system which cures disease (where the organ is not destroyed) and refreshes the worn-out frame, including the head-piece, without physic, by a cheap, simple, external remedy, and which requires few consultations, is surely worthy the attention of your readers, and the public generally."

SATURDAY, MARCH 7, 1874

In the Legislative Assembly, yesterday,

Ministers stated, in answer to questions, that the account of Mr. John Benson, for firewood supplied to the Court-house at Molong, would be paid on its correctness being certified to by the local Bench of magistrates; that the trustees of certain roads near Tenterfield had been dismissed on the report of two officers of the Public Works Department, and that votes for the roads were now expended under the direction of the department.

Mr. Tunks presented a petition from Mr. William Deane, representing that he was improperly dismissed from the office of Captain of No. 12 Battery of Artillery, on the pretence that he had been guilty of an act of insubordination, and praying the consideration of the House.

Mr. Parkes brought up the Sydney Water Supply and Sewerage Bill, which was read a first time, and its second reading was ordered for Thursday forenight.

It was resolved, on the motion of Mr. Butler, that copies of all correspondence relating to applications to the Council of Education for aid in establishing a provisional school, or for the salary of a teacher for such a school, at Muthilly, be laid on the table.

It was ordered that the petition presented on Thursday be printed.

It was resolved, on the motion of Mr. Cooper, to authorise the select committee now sitting on the Sydney Museum to visit and hold inquiries at the Museum.

The adjourned debate on the Legal Practitioners Relief Bill was resumed by Mr. Butler, who answered the allegation that the Bar was a monopoly by describing the examination to which candidates for admission were subjected, which he contended was necessary in the interests of the public as well as of the profession, and that there was no profession in the world to which the imputation of monopoly could with less justice be applied. He denied that barristers were in the habit of taking briefs and not attending the cases or returning the fees, though he said it sometimes happened they could not appear in court, and retained their briefs at the request of the attorneys who wished to have their advice. Coming to the principles of the bill, he argued that the division of the profession tended to produce greater skill in each branch and to a greater degree of purity, both in respect of litigation and the administration of justice; and he asserted that in New York and in other large cities, where the profession had been amalgamated, the practical effect of the change had been a natural separation between advocates and attorneys, with a larger amount of unnecessary litigation. He maintained that the position taken up by the hon. member for Newtown, that barristers should not, in the event of the amalgamation being carried out, be allowed to practice as attorneys, unless, after passing through the same course of training as attorneys for five years, proved the necessity for the separation, and that even in the estimation of the supporters of the bill it would not be for the public good for reciprocity of rights in the practice of the law to be established, and he pointed out that it was competent for any attorney who aspired to a seat on the Bench to have the same chance as a barrister of attaining his object by obtaining his admission to the Bar as some attorneys had done. He intended to vote against the second reading.

Mr. Thomas Robertson said the division of the profession was attended by great injustice in the country districts, where poor men could not afford to retain counsel unless at an enormous expense, and who were denied the right of audience through their attorneys in the Circuit Courts, though attorneys were sometimes assigned by the Judges in the absence of barristers to defend prisoners in the Criminal Courts. He approved of the division in large cities like Sydney, but he thought it did not work well in the country districts.

Mr. Forster was commenting upon the two preceding speeches, when attention was called to the state of the House, and as a quorum was not formed Mr. Speaker adjourned the House at 6.13 to 4 p.m. on Tuesday next.

Considering what are called the Liberal, and certainly are the democratic tendencies of the age, and of Great Britain herself, once the great Conservative nation, and considering too all that Mr. Gladstone and his Ministry have done to level exclusive privileges, and abate the prestige of ancient institutions, it is somewhat strange to find Mr. Disraeli back again at the head of a Conservative Ministry, and supported by an estimated majority of about forty members of the House of Commons. Some of the Liberal papers seem to anticipate from Mr. Disraeli, however inconsistently, a liberal policy, and to foreshadow his outbidding the rival faction for popular favour by some such clever stroke of anti-Conservative or democratic concession as was held to have been embodied in his last Electoral Reform Bill, which comprised, among other popular provisions, what was known as household suffrage. Mr. Disraeli then defended himself from the charge of inconsistency by insisting that he had always held, and had before endeavoured to carry into effect, this form of extension of the suffrage. But, on the present occasion, so far from any appearance of following in the Liberal track, or adopting a liberal policy, as these have been marked out, or exemplified, in the course of the late Ministry in England, Mr. Disraeli has, in some of his recent utterances, before taking office, been remarkably candid and outspoken in denouncing the legislative policy of his predecessors, particularly some of their cardinal measures, such as the disestablishment of the Irish Church, the alterations with reference to the tenure of land, and the settlement of the question between landlord and tenant in Ireland, the reorganization of the military system, and the like. He has also very freely condemned their foreign policy, and in particular the submission to American claims. There is accordingly nothing in Mr. Disraeli's late antecedents, or in the circumstances by which he and his colleagues are surrounded, to justify the hopes or fears of their political opponents—whose fears are probably stronger than their hopes—of a policy similar in any respects to that of the Liberal party. The return of the Conservatives to power is perhaps, for the most part, the result of a natural reaction which belongs essentially to party government, and is one of the symptoms of a generally healthy political condition. The Gladstone Ministry were played out. Symptoms of their gradual decay, and of approaching dissolution, had manifested themselves for some time past. They have never properly recovered the crisis, which, like a stroke of paralysis before death, was accompanied by their brief retirement from, and preceded their temporary return to, power. Their measures, though in certain quarters feared and censured as revolutionary, were generally considered to have been in a high degree liberal and progressive, and must have been popular, to have met with such general acquiescence from the people at large. But no Ministry was ever yet sustained by measures alone. And it is one of the most notable features of the present change, that it has been brought about in a great measure by the votes of the working classes, in whose political enfranchisement Mr. Gladstone is commonly believed to have been the chief agent, for whom he has, at any rate, professed to do so much, and for whom he had promised to do so much more in the way of electoral reform, extension of the suffrage, and equal distribution of the representation. Mr. Disraeli no doubt introduced and established household suffrage somewhat in opposition to his own party. But this was very widely regarded as partaking much of the character of a political artifice, and as having been induced or forced upon its ostensible author by Mr. Gladstone's previous or expected policy. But if the working classes were under any obligations to Mr. Gladstone for his electoral reforms, they repaid them during the last election by supporting his opponents and helping to displace their benefactor. To expect gratitude in return for political benefits is unreasonable. The high privilege and power to confer such benefits, the confidence of the people, and the possession of the reins of government in the meantime, are esteemed sufficient remuneration. If a past policy, a reform once accomplished, or a victory already gained upon the popular side or in the interests of the people, are to entitle a statesman to hold office in perpetuity, where would be the hopes or chances of future progress? In this colony Mr. Cowper exhausted the popularity derived from his association with Electoral Reform, Mr. John Robertson has nearly outlived the prestige of his famous Land Act, and the probability is that Mr. Parkes will one day find that he has over-estimated the popular interest attached to his claims and services in the matter of education. The most popular men are not always those who have worked hardest, or done the most for the people. A close and serious attention to one's own individual interests is a considerable element in some kinds of popularity. But in Mr. Gladstone's case the reforms he has achieved, or prefigured, have had a great effect, in stimulating, if not in creating, the reaction against his Ministry. In every nation there is more or less of a Conservative instinct, which is never extinguished—nay, which is often aroused and intensified—by a long series of reforms or innovations. The Conservative instinct alternates with the revolutionary or democratic. And with all her revolutions, reform bills, and democratic innovations, England is still

FEARFUL EXPLOSION OF A TORPEDO.—Shortly after 7 o'clock yesterday morning, the loud noise of an explosion roused the residents in Phillip-street and for a good distance around from their slumbers. At the Sydney Infirmary, where it was heard very distinctly, the sound was compared to that of the gun which announces the arrival of the mail, but much louder. Shortly after the noise of the explosion, attention was attracted to the shop of Mr. George Benthien, plumber, on the east side of Phillip-street, and midway between King and Hunter streets, by smoke and dust issuing from the doors and windows, or rather from where the latter had been. It was ascertained that a torpedo had exploded, and that Thomas Forster, 23 years of age, had been dangerously burnt and was about to be removed to the Infirmary. The circumstances connected with the explosion are narrated as follows:—A few days ago, some person connected with what is known as the Torpedo Corps, a branch of the Naval Brigade, sent to Mr. Benthien a torpedo case, which had been made some time before for the Government of New South Wales. This torpedo Mr. Benthien had instructions to render watertight by pitching and soldering. Mr. Benthien, who states that he had no idea of any portion of a charge remaining in the case, says that a little before 7 o'clock he put on the fire in his shop on the ground floor, facing Phillip-street, two vessels, the one containing solder, the other being filled with pitch. The torpedo, he says, he put within a few feet of the fire, so that it might become so far heated as to receive the more readily the pitch and solder. When the explosion took place Benthien says that Forster was standing over the fire and near the torpedo stirring one of the vessels in the fireplace, and that he (Benthien) was standing alongside his bench, on the other side of the door from the fire, collecting his tools preparatory to setting to work at the torpedo, which he mention he had just touched with his hand, and found to be warm enough for the purpose. Near Benthien stood a boy of 11 years of age. While the three occupants of the room just mentioned were in the position described, the house was violently shaken, as if by an earthquake, and Forster was observed by Benthien amid a shower of pieces of brick and a cloud of dust, to be violently repelled from the vicinity of the fireplace, with his clothes all torn, and covered, together with his face and hands, with pitch. Benthien, who does not appear to have received the slightest injury, when he had recovered from the consternation into which he had been thrown, picked up Forster, whose clothes were smouldering, and carried him to the water-butt in the yard, into which he thrust him to quench the hot pitch which had been thrown over him by the explosion. The boy who stood beside Benthien had, like himself, an almost miraculous escape from death. He escaped with a bruise on one of his legs from a flying piece of brick. Some notion may be gained of the violence of the explosion from the results. The front and sides of the chimney over the fireplace fell to the floor. Both windows were blown out, and portions of the glass, frame, and sheds of the window-blinds were to be found strewn on the opposite side of the street. Portions of the bricks from the chimney were propelled violently against the opposite wall of the workshop, bringing down the plaster, and leaving indentations in the wall. The plaster was dislodged from the ceiling. The window of a back parlour, which opens from the shop, was also broken. Upstairs, plaster was brought down from the ceiling, and ornaments knocked down from chests of drawers and tables, and broken. In the front parlour over the shop, the mantelpiece—over that downstairs—was broken to pieces, and the plaster all round it was rent from the floor to the ceiling. It is considered fortunate that the front door of the workshop was open; had it not been so, it is conjectured that the explosion, being more confined, would have rent the house from top to bottom. Forster was taken to the Infirmary, where it was found that he had been severely burnt and bruised almost all over the body. His ultimate recovery is very doubtful. We are now given to understand that several experiments had recently been made by the Torpedo Corps, and that the torpedo in question had been tried with others, and found to be leaky. The powder was, it is [illegible]ned, cleared, as was believed, completely out of the c[illegible]hich was even beaten with a hammer while in an inv[illegible]position, so that no particles of the explosive materia[illegible]h by any possibility remain. It is now, however, supp[illegible] that the wet had caused some of the powder to cake, an[illegible]ere to the sides of the case, and that it must have bee[illegible]dry while close to Benthien's fire.

VITAL STATISTICS.—The Registrar-General's report on the vital statistics of Sydney and suburbs, for the month of January, 1874, contains the following:—The births recorded in Sydney during January numbered 258, viz., 136 males and 122 females, being 18 above the average of five years, and 59 in excess of the deaths of the month. The deaths numbered 199, viz., 114 males and 85 females, being 19 above the quinquennial average. The proportion of local diseases was 53·17 per cent., the principal causes of death being from affections of the nervous and respiratory systems and organs of digestion and circulation zymotic diseases gave 30·15 per cent., with typhoid fever metris, and diarrhœa as the prominent causes; 11 death occurred from accidental violence and 2 by suicide. The births in the metropolitan division were 476, and the deaths 303, being respectively 27 less and 37 in excess of the registrations of January, 1873. The infantile mortality was at the rate of 55·27 per cent., and 2·91 per cent., more than the average from 1869 to 1873.

SEIZURE OF OPIUM.—The Border Post reports that a Chinese storekeeper named Ah Hong, who carries on business on the Black Ranges, was seen, under suspicious circumstances at Albury, at 12 o'clock on Thursday night. The sub-collector of Customs, Mr. Swyny, got an inkling that there was something on the tapis, and upon instituting inquiry, discovered that the Celestial had twenty tins of opium in his possession, which it is alleged he smuggled, at some point at present unknown, over the Murray from Victoria. The alleged contraband stuff was seized, and is now impounded at the Custom-house, awaiting to be dealt with as the officers at head-quarters will instruct. The duty on opium in New South Wales is 6s. per lb.

THE BIRD ISLAND MURDER.—We learn from the Hobart Town Mercury that on the 27th ultimo Patrick Nolan was brought forward charged with the wilful murder of John Wright, at Bird Island, on or about the 25th of February, 1871. The prisoner did not exhibit any traces of unusual anxiety, although the flushed colour of his features betrayed extreme nervous excitement. In reply to Mr. Tarleton as to whether the prisoner had any witness to call, Nolan said, "I have no witnesses to call except the birds from the island, and they know I am innocent." He was committed for trial at the next criminal sessions.

THE THEATRES.—During the first three nights of the past week the drama of "Rosedale" has been performed at the Queen's Theatre to good houses, and on Thursday evening a crowded audience assembled to witness Mrs. Bates's impersonation of the dual character of Lady Isabel and Madame Vine in "East Lynne." Her acting throughout exhibited a true appreciation of the part, and in the pathetic scenes her dramatic power was evident. Last night "Ingomar, the Barbarian," was placed upon the stage, and proved very successful, Mr. and Mrs. Bates, of course, taking the leading part. The drama of "Elizabeth, Queen of England," is announced as in course of preparation. Mr. W. G. Carey, who during his professional career in Sydney, has established his right to be considered one of the best actors in his line of business, has closed his connection with this theatre, and his retirement will be regretted by playgoers. Mr. Rickards terminates his brief engagement at the Victoria theatre this week, after a very successful season, during which he has fully carried out his promise to provide an attractive bill of fare for the public. Last night there was a crowded house, and the efforts of Miss Carrie Rickards, Harry Richards, Mrs. Fox, and Mr. Drayton, were received with marked approval. On Monday, a dramatic company will resume possession of the boards, under the inaugural direction of Mr. Lachlan M'Gowan. The company will include Mrs. Charles Jones, Mrs. M'Gowan, Miss D. Green, Miss Melville, and Messrs. J. G. Joyce, S. Poole, W. Ryan, Holloway, and Martin.

HASELMAYER AT THE SCHOOL OF ARTS.—The clever performances of Haselmayer at this place of amusement are still as popular as ever, and during the past week although the programme has not been entirely changed the attendance was even better than on the previous week, the reserve seats especially, being well filled by a select audience. The remarkable facility with which the professor imposes upon his patrons is vastly amusing, and the humour he manages to introduce into his conversation makes him at once a favourite with the audience. Last evening there was a very crowded house, and many of the items in the programme were received with enthusiastic applause. The principal illusions in the first part are the "three charmed bullets" and "travelling through the air." In the first, a common pistol is produced into which three bullets (previously marked by several of the audience) are placed with powder and wadding. The pistol is then handed to any gentleman who is competent to fire without shutting his eyes, and the contents are discharged at Haselmayer, in whose hand the marked projectiles immediately appear. The second illusion consists in the disappearance of a lady's watch and pocket-handkerchief, which are afterwards discovered in a small casket in the centre of a small box which is found within six or seven others. The destruction and restitution of a number of bank notes also caused considerable amusement and astonishment. In the second part of the programme, the audience were treated to a waltz on the stylocarde, the Professor eliciting an encore for his clever impersonation. The "Aerial Bell," which has already been described, and the manipulation of a bat were also very entertaining. To-day there will be an afternoon performance, on which occasion the hall will doubtless be crowded. On Monday next, a new programme will probably be given.

W. Filgate's b c Lapidist	2
J. Tait's b c Sylvia colt	3

Kinglike, Ella, and Latona also started. The Sylvia colt got badly away, and Seaspray led to the Abattoirs, where the heavy going told on the Sylvia colt and, Lapidist raced up to the leader, but she drew away again at the last turn and won by several lengths. Time, 3.37.

The Ascot-Vale Stakes.—A sweepstakes of 20 sovereigns each, half-forfeit, with 200 added. For 2 years old—colts, 8 st. 10 lbs.; fillies, 8 st. 7 lbs. The winner of the Two-year-old Stakes to carry 5 lbs. extra. The second horse to receive 10 per cent. of the stake. Three-quarters of a mile.

Lady Manners Sutton (filly)	1
Discretion	2
Gaslight	3

The Hook, War Eagle, Leopold, Sylvia (filly), also ran. The Lady Manners Sutton (filly) led all the way, and won easily.

Australian Cup.—A sweepstakes of 20 sovereigns each, 10 forfeit, or 5 if declared, with 300 added. For 3 years old and upwards. The winner of any handicap of the value of 100 sovereigns after the declaration of the weights to carry 3 lbs. extra; if two or more such races, 5 lbs. extra. The second horse to receive 50 sovereigns, and the third to save his stake. Two miles and a quarter.

Mr. W. E. Deakin's b g Protos, 6 years, 7 st 5 lbs.	1
J. Thompson's b g Mentor, 5 years (including 3 lbs. penalty), 7 st. 5 lbs.	2
J. Brewer's b g After Dark, aged, 7 st 7 lbs.	3

The following horses also ran—Ace of Trumps, Contessa, Formosa, Calabar, and Benjiroo.

There were eight starters for this event, and Ace of Trumps and Protos were strong favourites at 5 to 1, Mentor's price being 8 to 1. A very good start was effected, After Dark jumping off with the lead, the rest being well up. Contessa, Mentor, and Formosa close in order. Passing the grand-stand After Dark was still in front, with Contessa and Formosa next, Benjiroo, Protos, and Calabar following, and Ace of Trumps last. The same order was maintained along the river bank, but shortly afterwards Protos ran through his horses splendidly and took second place. At the far side of the course he had forged into first place, with After Dark second, and Contessa third. Protos increased his lead in the straight running notwithstanding the efforts of After Dark and Contessa, who made a good finish. Protos passed the post four lengths in front. Ace of Trumps was fourth. Time: 4 minutes 22 seconds.

Plate of £100.—For 2 years-old, 6 st 10 lbs.; 3 years, 8 st 7 lbs.; 4 years, 5 years, 6 years, and aged, 9 st. Entrance, 1 sovereign. Half a mile. The winner to be sold for £25.

H. Fisher's b g Mocking Bird, aged	1
W. Winch's b f Ariel, 3 years	2
J. Wilson ns b g Steeltrap, 6 years	3

Thirteen started. Time, 56 seconds.

Sires' Produce Stakes.—The V.R.C. (Sires') Produce Stakes of 10 sovereigns each, half-forfeit, 2½ forfeit only if declared by 1st February, 1874, with 150 sovereigns added, and 340 subscribed by owners of sires. For then 2 years old—colts, 8 st. 10 lbs.; fillies, 8 st. 7 lbs. No allowance to geldings. Second horse to receive 10 per cent. on the gross amount of the stake. Three-quarters of a mile.

Dr. Bathe's Flying Fox	1
—— Discretion	2
—— All Steel	3

As all three belonged to the same owner this event created no interest.

It rained hard all the morning, and the course was exceedingly heavy. The attendance was not large.

The Sylvia colt has been scratched for all engagements at this meeting. The stewards decided that Dowling's nominations for the Australian Cup and Newmarket Handicap were informal, and they were not allowed to start.

MAITLAND.

[FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.]

MARCH 6.—The continued rains have rendered the whole district unfit as yet for agricultural purposes, and the lucerne that has been cut for hay has for the most part been spoiled. There will this year be a large quantity of hay of a very inferior description. A considerable quantity of damaged maize was sold the other day and realized 2s. 9d. to 2s. 10d. per bushel. It was only fit for fowls.

The vineyards are for the most part a failure this year. Accounts from the Paterson district are to hand to the effect that the grapes are very poor, both as to quantity and quality, and that any wine that may be made from them must necessarily be of a very meagre description.

The sickness, more especially of the very old and the very young, mentioned to my last communication, still continues, and our medical men are constantly busy. Some day it is to be hoped that at length measures of a sanitary character will occupy the attention of our Municipal Council, and that steps of a remedial nature will be taken. Several aldermen, new to the work, have recently been elected, and the subject might very well occupy their attention, as it would be impossible to think of a more important one.

The new Public school is rapidly approaching completion, its promoters being very sanguine of success. Tenders have also been invited for the erection of a large school for the Roman Catholic portion of the community. The plans and elevations set forth a building of a handsome character.

A public dinner was given last evening, at Fullford's Hotel, to Mr. W. H. Maguire, the telegraph master of West Maitland, who is about to leave us for Albury. This gentleman, by his urbanity and kindness, has earned for himself a great number of friends, who will be sorry to see him from among them. The speeches at the dinner were of the usual hearty and post-prandial character, and the company separated at a late hour.

The Quarter Sessions commenced this morning at the East Maitland Court-house. There is not a large calendar, nor are the crimes of a serious kind. The number of causes, also, for the District Court is this time unusually small.

The Flood Relief Committee at Morpeth is distributing seed, consisting of barley and potatoes. The East and West Maitland committees are also busily engaged in their work of mercy.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOL AT YOUNG.—Mr. Wilkins, the secretary to the Council of Education, opened the new Public school at Young on Monday last. The building (says the Burrangong Argus) presents a fine appearance. The dimensions of the large room are 39 feet 6 inches by 24 feet. The classroom is 18 feet by 24 feet, and the infants' schoolroom, which occupies the wing, is 20 feet by 16 feet. The walls throughout are on the outside 12 feet high, and in the inside 13 feet 6 inches. There is a verandah on the north side to the large room, and there is also a verandah on the east side to the infants' room. On the east side is also a lavatory, containing six basins. Ventilation is provided for by ornamental louvres in the roof, also by gratings in the walls under the eaves, and above and below the floor. The bell was presented by Mrs. Thomas Watson.

CHARGE OF INSANITY.—Under the heading of "Harmless Eccentricity" the Wagga Express relates the following:—An old resident of Wagga, Robert Henry Bullock, was, on Saturday last, brought up upon a charge of insanity. The arresting constable stated that Mr. Bullock had evinced several signs of a "mind diseased," to which he had ministered by lodging him in the lockup. Mrs. Bullock stated that one phase of her husband's insanity was developed in his knocking her down occasionally, and another in keeping the children away from school in order that they might go out fishing with him. During one of the fishing excursions, the defendant was seen by the apprehending constable driving the children before him on the bank of the river with a branch, and threatening at intervals to throw them in the river. It also appeared from the evidence of Mrs. Bullock, that her husband had on one occasion threatened her with a knife. The Bench thought the defendant was only eccentric, and not a mad Bullock, and so discharged him from custody.

DEATH FROM AN ACCIDENT.—The Goulburn Herald of Wednesday reports the following melancholy case:—Mr. William Charles, some time since came to Goulburn for change of air. On the 19th January he took a walk to Marsden's Crossing over the Wollondilly River to see the progress being made with the bridge-building now going on. While standing between two of the piles then lying on the ground preparatory to being driven into their places, a dray loaded with lime came along and struck the end of one of them, causing it to turn round and crush Mr. Charles. He was removed to Mrs. Steer's; and on examination it was found that he had sustained a severe comminuted fracture of the left leg, the limb being completely smashed and deprived of a considerable portion of the flesh, and that his right arm was broken. Dr. Hayley attended to the case, and with the assistance of Dr. Davidson reduced the fracture of the arm. It was at first thought that there was no alternative but amputation of the limb; but this was considered dangerous, and attempts were accordingly made to save it. Owing to the patient's age, seventy years, and to the confinement rendered necessary, he was unable to take much nourishment, but though from this cause much weakened, he went on favourably. The arm reunited; a considerable portion of the bone was removed from the leg, the space was gradually filling up, and a cure was confidently anticipated. Unfortunately, however, on Thursday night he had an attack of bronchitis, and, being very much weakened, he succumbed on Sunday, notwithstanding all that could be done by his medical attendants. He was attended to by his brother, Captain Charles, of Kiama, and by other members of his family. Mr. Charles was an old colonist of nearly fifty years standing. He resided in Sydney, and was possessed of considerable property. He leaves a wife, but no children.

RESCUE FROM DEATH.—An old resident of Carcoar (says the Chronicle), Mr. Blazely, senior, had a very narrow escape from drowning last week. Mr. Blazely was returning from Burnt Yards in a Spring cart, and was fording the Belubula at the usual crossing place, when the mare he was driving being thirsty, stopped in the strongest part of the stream to drink, and as she was doing so, kept raising her fore feet, and the stream being very strong from the recent rains, every time she did so she got a little farther down the stream. In trying to get her head round, the cart capsized, and the old gentleman, who is very feeble, was at once carried down by the strong current. Fortunately for him, a Chinese gardener was watching the affair; and immediately rushed into the river at a point below the ford, and with much difficulty managed to get Mr. Blazely to the bank, but not before he had been carried down the stream about a hundred yards. John then called some of his countrymen, and these carried the completely exhausted man to their hut, where they paid him every attention, dried his clothes, and took care of him till morning. The Celestial Samaritans also managed to extricate the mare from the head of the tree into which she and the cart had been washed; but the greater portion of the harness (which had to be cut to save the mare) and the body of the cart was washed away, having only the axle and the wheels behind.

PENSIONS.

THE following is the bill to regulate the granting of public pensions, which was introduced in the Legislative Assembly yesterday, and read a first time. The second reading of the bill has been made an Order of the Day for this day three weeks:—

Whereas it is expedient to restrict and regulate the power of the Crown in recommending to Parliament pensions or annuities payable from the Consolidated Revenue Fund. Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and Legislative Assembly of New South Wales, in Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same as follows:—

1. After the passing of this Act it shall not be lawful for the Governor to recommend to Parliament the payment out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of any sum, by way of pension or annuity, to any person in consideration of services rendered by him as a member of the Executive Council or as a member of the Legislative Assembly or Legislative Council, or in consideration of services voluntarily rendered by any person in the promotion of any cause, reform, or measure, political or social, having professedly for its object the public good: Provided that nothing herein contained shall extend or be construed to restrict the power of the Governor in recommending to Parliament any pension or annuity payable as aforesaid to any person in consideration of distinguished military or naval services against the Queen's enemies, performed whilst in the service of this colony, or in consideration of distinguished services in art, science, or literature, generally acknowledged to be of national value.

2. Notwithstanding the provisions of this Act, there shall, in accordance with a resolution of the Legislative Assembly to that effect, be paid out of the said Consolidated Revenue Fund to the Rev. John Dunmore Lang, during the term of his natural life, an annuity of three hundred pounds per annum, in consideration of his eminent public services. And it shall be lawful for the Colonial Treasurer to pay accordingly to the said John Dunmore Lang, during the said term, the said annuity of three hundred pounds, in quarterly payments of seventy-five pounds each, the first payment to be made three months after the passing of this Act.

3. This Act may be cited as the "Pensions Limitation Act of 1874."

PRESBYTERY OF SYDNEY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—In the paragraph of your paper appearing this morning, which assumes to give the minutes of the last meeting of the Presbytery of Sydney, there is a very important omission, which occurs in that part of the business with which my name is identified. When Dr. Fullerton introduced his motion, and it was seconded by Dr. Gilchrist, I raised the objection to its being entertained, that as Mr. Laughton, which it intended to censure, was not present, and was not a member of the Presbytery, it was unjust to try, condemn, and punish him behind his back, when he could not have any opportunity to explain or defend himself. That as Mr. Laughton was only one of a committee appointed to prepare the minutes and publish them, it was contrary to all fairness and truth to select him out for censure, when the whole committee would be amenable to the General Assembly at its next meeting. These objections to the entertainment of Dr. Fullerton's motion were submitted to the Presbytery, they were overruled by the casting vote of the Moderator (who nevertheless held that my objections were right in the abstract). I therefore protested and appealed to the General Assembly, as I conceived that the decision so given was contrary to the first principles of British justice, and to the plainest rules of Presbyterianism. The Presbytery allowed my protest and appeal, and therefore all action with reference to the motion of Dr. Fullerton stated. I then immediately inquired whether or not what was thus stated, and referred to the next General Assembly, would be printed in the public papers as part of the business of the meeting. I pointed out that it would be most unjust and wrong to publish in the public papers business which was sub-judice, and that the effect of such publication would be practically to pass the censure on Mr. Laughton, which, by my sustained appeal, was delayed and suspended; and further, that the effect would be, to give a sort of quasi Presbyterian sanction to the "regret" of Dr. Fullerton's motion, and to the truth of his statements about Mr. Beg's assumed degrees, when the merits of his resolution had not been discussed. A motion was then put that Dr. Fullerton's motion, which my appeal had stopped, and the merits of which had never been dealt with, should not be published. It was lost by a majority of one, the Moderator distinctly stating that it ought not to be published.

I merely point out these omitted facts that the other Presbyteries of the Church, and outside Presbyterians, may be able to judge of the case. The publication was insisted upon for two very plain reasons, which will occur to every one who is acquainted with the circumstances. The fraudulent assumption or use of degrees will not be justified by such a catch. The whole case will cause a little more publication than will be pleasant for those who have rushed to the Press on this occasion.

PERIODICITY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL ELEMENTS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

SIR,—In the Herald of Monday last, I drew the attention of your readers to the fact that the rainfall of the colony during the past seventeen years has been strikingly periodic in its character, being subject to a maximum about every third year,—a very important maximum being attained in 1870, a year remarkable for the amount and distribution of its rainfall. The rain curve being of so marked a character, it was reasonable to infer that many of the other meteorological elements would follow the same law of variation. I have therefore instituted a comparison of some of the yearly meteorological averages obtained at my observatory during the past eleven years, and the result has been a striking confirmation of the three year period. This period is well illustrated in the curves of mean minimum temperature of the air, mean minimum terrestrial radiation, and mean maximum solar radiation,—the maxima of the two former, and the minima of the last being contemporaneous with the maxima of the rain curve. The mean annual atmospheric pressure exhibits similar variations, though the undulations of this curve are very small. There are some indications of the period in the annual mean temperature, but on the whole this element seems to have gradually increased from 1863 to 1867, and to have diminished from 1867 to the present time. It is, however, worthy of note that although an anomaly is presented in the case of 1864, the curve exhibits a maximum for each of the years 1867, 1870. It would be interesting to know if the same law of variation obtains in the meteorological elements at the distant observatories of Melbourne and Adelaide. There is another interesting circumstance in connection with the Windsor rain curve. It is at least remarkable that the portions of the curve which precede and follow the principal maximum of 1870 are, so far as we are at present able to trace them, almost symmetrical. This circumstance, were it not for the danger to reputation of weather prediction, might almost lead one to infer that the rainfall during the present year will be below the average, and that 1875 will on the whole be a very dry year. It cannot, of course, have escaped the notice of your scientific readers that the two maxima of my curve in 1870 and 1873, are in direct contradiction of the results indicated by the Government Astronomer's curve of nineteen years. The hypothesis of nineteen years is a very ingenious one, but I think too much reliance has been placed on the observations made at South Head from 1840 to 1856, which it will be seen form a very material element in its construction.

In a report addressed by the Rev. W. Scott, the first Government Astronomer, to the Colonial Secretary, and published with other Parliamentary papers, in the Herald of 18th May, 1857, occurs the following passage:—"I have also visited the meteorological station at the South Head and removed the instruments and papers which I found there. An examination of the latter has led me to the conclusion that all the observations recorded at that place must be rejected as unworthy of confidence." From this report it appears we must be cautious in basing conclusions on data derived from the establishment at South Head.

LAW.

SUPREME COURT.—FRIDAY, MARCH 6.

SITTINGS IN BANCO.

BEFORE Sir JAMES MARTIN, Chief Justice, Mr. Justice HARGRAVE, and Mr. Justice CHEEKE.

LLOYD AND ANOTHER V. VICKERY AND ANOTHER.—EQUITY.

This was a motion for leave to insert in plaintiffs' bill an amendment touching a matter discovered since the appeal (upon which judgment was reserved) was argued.

Sir William Manning, Q.C., and Mr. Owen appeared for the plaintiffs; Mr. Henry Stephen and Mr. Davis for the defendants.

The effect of the motion was for leave to insert the ipissima verba of a certain agreement between Messrs. Vickery and Dunlop instead of a paraphrase of such agreement. The alteration sought to be conveyed to the Court was that, instead of there having been a mutual agreement for the sale of certain mortgaged property at the expiration of a term of five years, it was left optional either to sell or to settle by valuation. The application to amend had been made to the Primary Judge, but his Honor doubted his power to allow an amendment between the argument and the judgment by the Court. He therefore refused to make the order sought. The motion was renewed before the full Court yesterday, and upon coming on it was adjourned until to-day, defendants' solicitor being obliged to produce the original agreement. The motion was opposed upon the ground (substantially) that the arguments had been closed and defendants were now entitled to the judgment of the Court without being prejudiced by further delay; also that the application was without precedent and unreasonable.

Their HONORS held that the application might be entertained. It was not an ordinary application to amend before answer, but an application to amend after argument and before judgment, with a view to influence the judgment. There had been no cases cited in support of the application, but there were many cases in which the Court had taken evidence; and, in their Honors' opinion, the Court had power to allow this amendment, more especially as it related to a document set up in the bill, and to which the Court was referred by the bill. But what bearing the amendment might have upon the Court in giving their judgment need not now be discussed; nor was it at present proposed to make any order about costs. That would be dealt with on Wednesday next when judgment would be delivered.

Application granted.

THE QUEEN V. CHARLTON—CROWN CASE.

This was a special case reserved for the opinion of the Court, from the Quarter Sessions, Dubbo, before Mr. District Court Judge Josephson.

Mr. SALOMONS, who had been retained for the prisoner, now briefly stated the case. Charlton had been charged with having illegally converted certain cattle. It appeared that he was the superintendent of a squatter named Martel, who had for some time been in antagonism with Woods, a neighbour of his. Certain of Woods's cows had been branded with Martel's by Charlton, and hence the indictment. A number of questions of fact had been reserved by the attorney who defended the accused; but he (Mr. Salomons) should not now urge them upon the Court, because although it might be that the prisoner should not have been condemned, yet the jury had chosen to convict him, and the points reserved were matters for their determination.

The CHIEF JUSTICE: I have looked through these grounds. They are matters proper to submit to a jury; but having been decided by a jury, this Court has nothing to do with them. The conviction is sustained.

MAXTED V. FISHER.

This was an appeal from a judgment by Mr. District-Court Judge Dowling, in a Supreme Court issue, which had been removed to the District Court.

Mr. FILCHER appeared in support of the appeal, and opened the case; but it appeared that the Court had not been supplied with a copy of Judge Dowling's notes of the evidence, and the motion was adjourned until Friday next, to admit of this omission being supplied.

RULES NISI FOR NEW TRIALS.

WATSON AND ANOTHER V. NOAKES.

There was no appearance in this matter, and it was struck out of the list.

HICKS V. KENNEDY.

Mr. BUTLER, Q.C., moved for rule nisi for new trial of this action, which was heard last sittings for causes before Mr. Justice Cheeke and a jury of four, and resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff, with 40s. damages. It was an action of trespass, in which each

NEW SOUTH WALES PARLIAMENT.

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY.

FRIDAY, MARCH 6.

THE SPEAKER took the chair at twenty-nine minutes past 4 o'clock.

MOLONG COURT-HOUSE.

Mr. J. S. SMITH asked the Colonial Treasurer—" 1. Have the necessary vouchers been sent to the proper officer for the payment to John Benson of the sum due to him for supplying the Court-house at Molong with firewood? 2. If so, when will he be paid?"

Mr. LLOYD answered: 1. The account of John Benson, £3 18s 3d, was returned to the Bench on the 3rd instant for the certificate of a magistrate. 2. There would be no delay in having the account paid when returned from the Bench.

ROAD TRUSTEES AT CROOKWELL.

Mr. GARRETT asked the Secretary for Public Works,—" 1. Was a petition received by the Minister from certain residents at or near Crookwell, complaining of the conduct of certain Road Trustees as regards the wrongful accounting for their expenditure of the funds entrusted to them? 2. If so, what steps did the Government take to ascertain the facts, and with what result? 3. What course do the Government intend to take in the matter?"

Mr. SUTHERLAND said: 1. There is no record of any such complaint since 1870. 2. An investigation was then made by two officers of the department, who reported that great irregularities had been proved, and the Government dismissed the trustees from office. 3. The votes since 1870 had been expended by the department.

PETITION.

Mr. TUNKS presented a petition from William Deane, late captain of No. 2 Battery Volunteer Artillery, complaining of his dismissal and praying for relief.

WATER SUPPLY AND SEWERAGE BILL.

Mr. PARKES brought up a bill to make better provision for the supply of the city and suburbs of Sydney with water, and for the sewerage of Sydney.

The bill was read a first time. An order was made that it be printed, and the second reading was made an order of the day for Thursday fortnight.

PROVISIONAL SCHOOL AT MUTSILLY.

Mr. BUTLER moved,—" That there be laid upon the table of this House copies of all applications to the Council of Education for aid towards the establishing of a provisional school at Mutsilly, or for the salary of a teacher for such school, together with all correspondence between the Council and any person or persons on the subject."

Carried.

PETITION PRINTED.

Mr. BURNS (for Mr. Stephen Brown) moved,—" That the petition presented by him on 5th February, from Mr. Thomas Chippendall, relative to the Campbelltown Reservoir Better Preservation Bill, be printed."

Carried.

THE SYDNEY MUSEUM.

Mr. COOPER moved, without notice,—" That the select committee now sitting on the Sydney Museum be authorised to make visits of inspection to and hold inquiries at the Sydney Museum."

Carried.

LEGAL PRACTITIONERS' RELIEF BILL.

The adjourned debate on the mouon of Mr. Stewart,—" That this bill be now read a second time"—upon which Mr. Driver has moved, by way of amendment,—" That all the words after the word 'That' be omitted, with a view to the insertion in their place of the words 'the bill be referred to a select committee for consideration and report, with power to send for persons and papers. That such committee consist of Mr. Stewart, Mr. Allen, Mr. Stephen Brown, Mr. Forster, Mr. Abbott, Mr. Cooper, Mr. Hoskins, Mr. Lee Bale, and Mr. Driver'"—was resumed.

Mr. BUTLER said he wished to make a few remarks before the bill went to the second reading, and he felt called upon particularly to do so on account of the observations of the hon. member in charge of the bill, who thought that lawyers were the last persons who ought to offer an opinion on this bill, and the least competent to do so. He did not know how the hon. member arrived at such a conclusion as that, unless it be that he argued that those who knew most of a subject were the persons least qualified to give an opinion. Of course, if it be true that hon. gentlemen of either branch of the profession had an interest in keeping the law as it was then, that was a very good objection, but he thought that something more than the mere assertion of the hon. the baby for Kiama was required in support of such an observation as that. For his part, he had on several occasions addressed the subject on more than one occasion, and he had always challenged the hon member, or anybody else, to point out what possible interest he (Mr. Butler) could have in it [Mr. DRIVER: Hear, hear. Certainly, it would not affect him prejudicially if the amalgamation of the professions were to take place to-morrow, and it was too much for the hon. member to say that persons who ought to know something of the subject were not competent to speak upon it. As far as he was concerned, he really only had a desire to see what was right done for the practice of the law and the administration of justice, and to see this matter regulated in a way which would be best calculated to carry out this end. There was another observation the hon member was very much in the habit of making on this subject, or anything connected with it. He talked of the Bar being a monopoly, and he was aware it was almost hopeless to convince the hon. member that it was nothing of the kind, because no matter how clearly it was demonstrated that the assertion was unfounded, he would repeat the assertion, as if it had never been made or refuted. He should like to know where there was to be found, any business that required any sort of special knowledge or skill that was not open to the world. [Mr. PARKES: Hear, hear. Instead of its being a monopoly, as far as the Bar was concerned, any member of the other branch of the profession had nothing to do but to pass an examination (which, in such a case as that, would be a mere formality) to be admitted. But when they proceeded to the case of persons who did not belong to either branch of the profession, he thought it one of the most perverse assertions that could possibly be made to speak of the profession as a monopoly. Some persons who had abandoned the idea of one profession and of entering the law, and having studied without the aid of any professional training, than he himself could accomplish, had only to submit himself to an examination to be admitted to the Bar. And how often had that occurred! Of all the lines of business or professions, there was none to be found so open to the admission of any person who had a sufficient amount of education and perseverance to work his own way to the admission to the Bar. A good deal had been said in the way of exciting prejudice with regard to the amalgamation of the two branches of the profession, and while he was not surprised at the well-known pertinacity of the hon. member for Kiama, he was surprised at the remarks made in the course of that hon. member's speech by the hon. Mr. Yass, who had been most restless in his assertions on this subject. That hon. member spoke of the members of the Bar in a way that represented them as positively dishonest. If what the hon. member said was true, the Bar ought to be abolished at once. He spoke as if it was the case that, after all, there could be no rise to take briefs and fees and never attend in the case. The hon. member for Yass spoke as if that were a recognised rule of the profession. Why did he make an assertion like that? Either the hon. member knew something about the matter, or he knew no thing whatever about it. If he had any knowledge of the subject, he must know that the remarks he had made were utterly fallacious, and if he knew nothing, it was too bad of the hon. member to make such statements. He would defy the hon., member, or any other hon. member, to say that there was such a practice at the Bar. Mr. MITCHELL: Hear, hear. He could say for himself that he knew nothing whatever of such a practice. It a barrister found he could not attend to a case, he gave notice to the attorney, and returned the fee. He might say for himself, because he was included along with every other member of the Bar in this calumny—he could say that he made it a practice to discover the attorney to let him know when the case was coming on so that if he could not attend, the brief and the fee might be returned in time for the attorney to instruct some other counsel. That was the practice of the profession so far as he knew. It might that after the offer to return the brief, the case being of a peculiar character, the attorney might prefer to continue to have the advice of the counsel, and say they would rather he should not return the brief, but give what attention to the case he could, and perhaps cross-examine some particular witness. But was that a ground for the assertion the hon. member had made? Once for all he gave the assurance in the most distinct manner, if nothing talked of by the hon. member for Yass was of barristers taking cases into Court knowing nothing whatever about them, but depending upon the attorney for instructions. What strange experience the hon. member must have had, thus to speak of people who have to depend for their daily bread upon their attention and their care—and to speak of such a practice as if it were common. He did not know what purpose it could serve to make such remarks, instead of dealing with the question upon its merits.

Mr. STEWART: The public believe it notwithstanding.

Mr. BUTLER: People would often believe scandal and slander if people were found to propagate it for them. This sort of thing had often been brought forward before, and treated with silent contempt, but as it had been brought forward again he did not think he was acting unreasonably in taking notice of it. Coming to the merits of the subject under consideration, he had to notice an observation made by the hon. member for Newtown (Mr. S. C. Brown), and which had rather surprised him. He said there should be further discussion upon this subject, so that the two branches of the profession being amalgamated, the branch to which that hon. member belonged should not be subject to the competition of the other branch of the profession—that you might admit attorneys to be barristers, but further legislation was required to prevent barristers from practising as attorneys unless they served an apprenticeship of five years or something of that kind. If they were to have amalgamation it should be amalgamation for one as well as for the other, indiscriminately. The amalgamation ought to be a thorough one, and he did not think the House was likely to sanction any such change as that proposed by the hon. member for Newtown. But what did this argument signify, if it had any reason in it at all? If it was necessary for a barrister to serve for five years before he could be qualified to practice as an attorney, did it not show that there were such special differences between the two branches of the profession that they could never be united? In countries where the two branches were not separated, and where there was any considerable amount of legal business, it was a well-known fact that the legal profession was divided into two classes.

Mr. STEWART: Only in large towns.

Mr. BUTLER: And also in large countries. This practical separation took place, and always would take place. Let them go to any place where the amalgamation exists, and they would find a number of men who were as completely barristers in point of practice as any barristers in England. They did not enter into any partnerships, and they did not devote themselves to office business as attorneys did, but held themselves aloof from everything of the kind. If that were the case—and it was the case—that end could be gained by passing an amalgamation bill, which would leave practically the same state of things as existed before it was passed—which would leave a number of gentlemen who would cease to be called barristers, but who would be advocates, and who would devote themselves to that, and that alone? The consequence would be that there would be no difference to the public at large, and that was the real question after all. Let them test it now by any of the means by which a question could be tested. Supposing they took it as a fact, that do what they would there would be a number of the leading members of the profession who would separate themselves entirely into the position of advocates, and would debar themselves from going into competition with the other legal practitioners, what would they gain? They would have the same state of things for could they suppose that any leading member of the Bar in good practice would not continue to do as he was doing now? Then what was the advantage to the public? And then take one case that was, he believed, brought forward by the hon. member for the Tumut. The hon. gentleman said if you went to consult a barrister, you must first go and see an attorney, and that that was a great hardship. As the matter stood now, the client went to see an attorney, and he did not say that there were not many attorneys as well as barristers who were not at the head of our best barristers. If the attorney felt himself competent to give the advice, there was an end of the matter; but if not, who would the attorney go to? Certainly not to some junior barrister. He would go to barristers of high standing and large experience. It was said why should not the client go himself? But he would ask how could an advocate practising every day in the Court, and reading-up in his chambers, be accessible to every person who might wish to consult him at any time? The thing that the hon. member took for granted was impossible. How could a man be an advocate of position in the Court if he was occupied to give such statements of opinion, which would necessitate his sitting in his chambers all day long? Barristers could not be running out of Court to give their opinions. It might be all that what they wanted was persons who could find them to listen to a client. There was a branch of the profession which had itself cut for that class of business, for finding that there was an accommodation of the profession, and that then a barrister of standing formed a partnership with an attorney or another barrister, what happened? A client called at the office waiting for the opinion of the barrister, who might be attending the District or Supreme Court, or the Central Criminal Court. Sydney is prolific. His partner in the office would say to the client, "I will be very happy to take down your statement and get his opinion upon it." In that case did they think that the partner who took down the statement would not get paid for doing so? Double pay would thus arise in this manner. The hon member for Newtown talked about the hardship of clients having to employ barristers in the Supreme Court, though the amount sued for was only 40s., while an attorney could conduct a case in the District Court for £200. But it might be that the case for 40s. involved the most abstruse and difficult questions of law, and this was probable, as suitors would not be likely to go into the more expensive Court if there was not some such reason. Perhaps the title to land might be involved, or some question of the insolvency law; or perhaps some person might go into the higher Court to test a whole question, and there might be thousands of pounds involved in the decision, though the sum nominally sued for was small. Therefore there was no force in this argument of the hon. member for Newtown. It might be that the ability of the whole of the judges was required on the subject, and therefore the case was taken to the higher Court. There might be some few cases which were tried in the Supreme Court were it would be cheaper for the client to go to the District Court. But, as a rule, where the case was anything of any difficulty at all, those who were most experienced would be employed. He maintained that no great public advantages could be expected to accrue from the amalgamation of the professions. He would go further, however, and show that there were some substantial advantages on the other side in allowing things to remain as they were. He appealed to every lawyer whether what he was going to say was not the truth that could not be gainsaid. A client came and put his statement before him at once. He was, of course, very emphatic and probably a good deal excited in his own case. He urged his case upon the attorney until he got him to participate in his own feelings. Then, the attorney might infuse the same spirit into the barrister, and he was sure an advocate was not worth his salt if he did not do that in the end for the client which the attorney did in the beginning. But there was an intermediate stage between the time when the attorney got excited and the barrister was consulted, when it was of the utmost importance that cool advice should be measured out to the client. The facts of the case being submitted to the barrister when he had not got any exciting cause of interference, there were two guarantees for the client. The barrister in such a case having his reputation at stake, would advise as carefully and with as much deliberation as he possibly could. Besides that, he could deal with the case more impartially, as he would be less influenced by his feelings. That was what prudent men were in the habit of doing. And who could tell the amount of litigation that was prevented by such means? Even if the bill be passed, it was said that we should have in substance and form the same thing still. It was fallacious to suppose that any man could practice in both professions with anything like success. No man could get the experience and intelligence to enable him to do it. The hon. member for Newtown admitted that in each profession there was quite a different kind of work to be done, and it was impossible for a man to be well skilled in both. The skill in one branch was the kind of skill that fitted men for seats on the Bench. And if there were anything to be regarded with horror, it was having an incompetent Judge on the bench. And he said that the duties of one branch of the profession tended to more learning and skill and fitness for the duties of the bench than the other did. The undesirable consequence of such an amalgamation as was contemplated by the hon. member for Kiama would simply be to give more work to the one man, and to have him not so skilled as he otherwise would be in either branch. It was said that to have the branches distinct was to give a monopoly to one, and to shut out the attorneys from promotion to the Bench. It was not so. If a man was learned, and was ambitious for a seat on the Bench, and his qualifications and abilities gave him a just title to a seat one, even though he was in what was called the other branch of the profession, the door was wide open to him. Let him do as the present Chief Justice did leave the profession in which he was, and step into the direct way to the Bench would be open to him. [Mr. FORSTER: This bill would be an impediment to such a man.] The hon. gentleman omitted to consider the dilemma he [Mr. Butler] put him in—that a man who tried to be master in both professions would be a jack-of-all-trades, and master of none. He believed that practically no material difference would result from the alterations proposed. But then it was for those who proposed the alterations to prove how they could confer substantial benefits upon the public by the alterations. But if these persons were to succeed in getting the results they aimed at, the consequence would be we should have inferior learning, inferior experience; the country would be worse served, and eventually the Bench would be worse filled. For these reasons he intended to oppose the second reading of the bill, protesting that all that had been said about his having any interest in the matter was utterly unfounded. As to the amendment moved by the hon. member for Kiama for sending the question to a select committee he thought it had been sufficiently thrashed enough in the House, and he did not think that a select committee would be able to throw any more light upon it. Besides that, he objected to the composition of the committee proposed.

Mr. T. ROBERTSON admitted that so far as practice in Sydney was concerned the present arrangement was the most convenient one. But it was very different in the country, and was a great hardship to persons living in the distant interior that they were not permitted to be represented at the Circuit Courts by their attorneys. It must be remembered that there was no country in the world where the poor man and the rich man came so much into legal conflict as they did here. In England a suit between a poor and a rich man rarely took place. But here it was a matter of daily occurrence, and would be so long as the struggle for the possession of the public lands continued. Of course it was an easy thing for a wealthy man to obtain the best counsel procurable from Sydney to conduct his case in a Circuit Court, and by that means get an advantage over his antagonist. It might involve a fee of 300 guineas. But the wealthy man would be able to pay that. Under any circumstances to get a good barrister to leave Sydney for a circuit town would cost 200 guineas. And how many poor men could afford that? On the Civil side of the Court, where property only was at stake, the attorney who was deemed quite efficient to defend a man's life was not allowed to appear so long as one member of the Bar was present ready to be engaged. On this account he was favourable to the proposal of allowing an attorney to appear if his client so desired. It was no use saying that in the interior the verdict to be given for £50, and in the taxation of costs, for a fee of 200 guineas to be allowed to the barrister; and in the great majority of cases the barrister's fees far exceeded the amount of debt contended. Thus, where a poor and rich man were litigating, a verdict became simply a ruin to the former.

Attention was called to the state of the House, and a quorum was formed.

Mr. FORSTER had not been impressed by the poor-man argument, for unless it was intended that the bill should diminish the expense of litigation the arguments did not touch the case. Rich men would always be able to secure the higher fees of more talented members of the Bar, under whatever system they might adopt. The bill was also opposed on arguments equally as little to do with the matter, because there was nothing of the kind in the bill. It had been said that barristers received large fees, and then had not given attention to the case for which they were retained. He had been told of several such cases, one of which had been specially detailed to him by a friend. He should not advocate this bill as intended to abolish this objectionable practice, because it could not possibly have that effect. However much the range of choice was restrained or limited, there would always be clever but unscrupulous men whom the public would be sure to select, and nothing would ever alter it. [Attention was again called to the state of the House, and a quorum was formed.]

After some few remarks, attention was again called to the state of the House; and there not being a quorum present, the SPEAKER adjourned the House at thirteen minutes past 6 o'clock, until 4 o'clock on Tuesday next. The following hon. members were in their places when notice was taken that there was not a quorum present:—Mr. Parkes, Mr. Farnell, Mr. Stewart, Mr. Mathews, Mr. Lloyd, Mr. Driver, Mr. Allen, Mr. Thomas Robertson, Mr. Hurley (C. In the Import markets the past week has been the dullest of the year. Breadstuffs in steady demand for trade consumption at late quotations. Sales of flour at £15 10s. to £16 10s.; wheat quotable at 6s. 8d. to 6s. 9d. Coffee continues firm at 1s. 4d. for plantation, the only description now in the market. There is little doing in candles; D.R.O. have been sold at 10¾d. Bulk ale, of new brew, having now arrived in quantity, prices have given way. Melvin's has been sold at £7 5s., and we cannot now quote a higher figure for Marrian's. We also heard of a sale of Younger's new at £7, and Bass's (bottled by Porter) at 12s. Brandies have still a slow sale. Martell's dark is quoted at 8s. 7½d. to 8s. 9d.; Hennessy's pale, 9s. to 9s. 6d., according to age. The stock of foreign 30 o. p. rum continues light and prices firm. Other spirits inactive. Pint pickles, salad oils, and a few other items of oilmen's stores have an improving tendency. There has also been an active demand for fish at full rates. The short shipments advised and the high freights ruling at home have tended to make holders of salt firmer in their demands. Holders of Liverpool sorts asking 5s. to 10s. per ton advance. Sugars are quiet. An attempt to sell a cargo of Mauritius at auction yesterday resulted in the sale of between 50 and 100 tons at low figures. Some lines have since changed hands privately, at better prices. Teas are moving off quietly in trade parcels; choice congous are scarce, and command much better prices comparatively than medium qualities. In tobacco, we heard of a good parcel of dark tens being sold at 10d. for a good second brand.

Our usual monthly review of the markets will be published on Friday next, for transmission per English mail via California.

From an advertisement which appears in our special column, inserted at the instance of the manager of the Oriental Bank Corporation, capitalists will be glad to learn that arrangements have been made to open a share register at their Sydney branch, and every facility granted for the transfer of their shares from England to the colony. For the information of investors, we are requested to state that the bank has a paid-up capital of one million five hundred thousand pounds sterling, and reserved funds amounting to half a million (£500,000), and that it has divided to its shareholders since 1860 no less a sum than two million seven hundred and sixty thousand pounds sterling. Since 1867 the rate of dividend has been steady at 12 per cent.

The Melbourne Argus of Tuesday reports:—In the import markets, trade on the whole maintains a quiet aspect, though one or two specialities have come into notice, and a larger business than usual has been done to-day. Flour is now salable in bakers' lots at £16 12s to £16, but there is nothing offering even at £16 5s to supply the wants of the larger buyers who are anxious to operate. Wheat has again realised advanced rates, higher figures having been got under the hammer this forenoon than could be looked for. About 450 bags were cleared off, and the best samples brought 6s 6½d to 6s 9d. Oats are firm, and anything placed on the market meets with a ready sale at full values; about 250 bags were quitted by auction at prices ranging from 4s 10d to 5s 6d. A further rise has been established in maize, a parcel of 200 bags ex steamer was placed at 5s 3d, and numerous smaller lots at up to 5s 6d. An extensive business has been transacted in sugar. Of the Victoria Sugar Refining Company's make sales in parcels are reported to have been effected to the extent of 600 or 700 tons, at prices which in the meantime have not been made public, though stated to be satisfactory. This may in some degree account for the entire want of spirit evinced at the auction sale of Mauritius when the cargo of the Arnabella, comprising 5195 bags, was offered, and only the trifling quantity of 600 bags could be disposed of, at 28s 6d for good brown, 31s 9d for low yellows, 32s 6d for medium counters, and 33s 3d for low yellow brewing crystals. About 2000 bags were expected, however, to be sold privately. Trade sales of brewing crystals have come under our notice at £35 10s to £36. The Kate Conley's shipment of Queensland-grown will be sold to

The pure-bred bulls MONARCH OF THE VALE, imported, and RAJAH are now RUNNING WITH THE ABOVE, which will ensure to purchasers the direct progeny of imported stock.

The auctioneers, in inviting the attention of all breeders of stock to the FOURTH ANNUAL SALE of the celebrated Wollogorang Short-horn Herd, feel that under ordinary circumstances the mere introduction of the pedigrees of the imported Sires from which this herd have sprung, would be sufficient to arrest the attention and incite the interest of all those whose aim it is to improve their herds; but when it is stated in good faith that this year's "offering" of bulls and heifers are superior to anything ever submitted from this herd, AND INCLUDE THE CHOICE generally reserved for the Sydney Exhibition, it is believed that those who have hitherto satisfied their requirements in Sydney will not fail to at least to inspect the valuable stud-cattle to be sold this year at Wollogorang. To those who are strangers to this herd we would say that the following established facts and admissions have permanently brought this herd into fame:—
First, the knowledge that Mr. Chisholm has imported regularly during the last fifteen years the best blood obtainable in England; secondly, that, whether from accident or skilful judgment on the part of Mr. Chisholm's agent, he has secured a strain of blood which beyond all others gives early maturity; thirdly, the general knowledge and fact as cited by the celebrated breeder, R. L. Jenkins, Esq., Nepean Towers, in his able letters on the Breeding of Shorthorns, that "Mr. Chisholm's cattle arrive at such early maturity that he is enabled to sell them fat at two years, weighing 800 lbs.;" and, fourthly, the most celebrated breeders—Messrs. Lamb, Woodhouse, Dangar, Jenkins, Osborne, Campbell, Gibson, Mackay, Windeyer, and others of note—have all been purchasers from this herd; and finally, we claim a hardiness of constitution obtainable only in a cold country, and which perhaps beyond all others, with their breeding, is the greatest recommendation of all.

The BULLS and HEIFERS (in calf) will be submitted in small pens to suit all purchasers.
INTENDING PURCHASERS leaving Goulburn at 9 a.m. will arrive in good time at Wollogorang for the sale at 11.

'Buses will leave the Commercial and Royal Hotels at 9 a.m. to convey purchasers to the sale, returning in ample time for the evening train.

AUCTION SALES.

WOODHOUSE STATION, KENNEDY DISTRICT QUEENSLAND, with 6,217 well-bred Cattle, more or less.

G. N. GRIFFITHS has received instructions from the proprietors to sell by public auction, at the Hall of Commerce, the Exchange, Sydney, at 11 a.m., on FRIDAY, the 13th of March next,

The above-named magnificent cattle property, together with the herd of cattle, the horses, stores, plant, &c.

WOODHOUSE Station consists of ten large blocks of country which embrace an area of about 434 square miles.

THE COUNTRY may be described as consisting of large open black soil plains, with richly grass-ed forest lands, and fine lightly timbered hills.

THE RUN is abundantly and permanently watered; it has a frontage of 38 miles to the Burdekin River and 25 miles to the Houghton River, besides which there are numerous permanent creeks and large lagoons on every part of the station.

THE CARRYING capabilities are estimated as fully equal to 15,000 cattle.

This is one of the choicest breeding and fattening stations in Northern Queensland, and it has the further advantage of having ready markets for its fat stock at the surrounding gold-fields.

THE IMPROVEMENTS are good, and ample for the working of the herd of cattle; there is a good head station, with all necessary yards and paddocks; also, two stud cattle paddocks of large extent.

The run is divided by fences and natural features into two separate portions for keeping the fattening and breeding cattle apart.

There is a choice herd of about 150 selected cows running with three valuable imported and pure-bred bulls.

Every attention has been paid to the breeding and management of the cattle, which are all quiet and in admirable order.

They consist of—
2215 bullocks
3822 breeding cows and heifers } more or less.
150 stud cows
32 bulls, from the best herds.

Of the bullocks a draft of about 1000 head of first-class stores could be immediately disposed of.

The annual brandings have been remarkably good.

During the past two years regular and continuous drafts of fat stock have been disposed of at the diggings in the neighbourhood, and there is a constant demand for them at prices up to £8 per head.

The station is situated on the Burdekin River, about 85 miles west of Port Denison, and it is within easy reach of the new rush to the Endeavour River.

The blocks are surveyed and held under 10 years' lease at a low rental.

All cattle will be mustered and delivered, and purchaser will be allowed 10 per cent. for calves.

Terms of sale—one-third cash, balance at 1 and 2 years' with 8 per cent. interest added, secured on the property.

Plans and further particulars can be obtained from
G. N. GRIFFITHS, 271,
George-street, Sydney.

LOT 1.—The WILLANGI STATION, situated about 100 miles from Rockhampton, and near Broadsound, between Mr. M'Cartney's, Waverley, and the well-known Glenprairie Stations. It contains about 200 SQUARE MILES OF THE FINEST DESCRIPTION OF CATTLE COUNTRY, large open flats and extensive marine plains, dotted with timbers, covered with the best descriptions of fattening grasses and herbage, and WATERED PERMANENTLY IN EVERY DIRECTION by never-failing rivers and creeks.

With Willangi, will be sold a very choice herd of 5400 CATTLE, more or less, containing a fair number of marketable cattle, and INCLUDING 400 SUPERIOR HEIFERS RUNNING IN THE FOYLE PARK paddock, WITH 10 PURE BULLS, bred by the Messrs. Lee, of Bathurst.

THE STUD HERD consists of 100 very superior cows, bred from pure CXS, D in diamond, and OB bulls, NOW IN CALF to Champion and Victory, pure short-horns, bred by Mr. Durham, of Singleton; and 120 nearly pure heifers, by Champion and Victory, IN CALF TO PURE-BRED BULLS. Also, 50 young bulls. This stud herd is to be taken by the purchaser at £10 per head.

THE IMPROVEMENTS are very extensive; nearly the whole run is enclosed by natural boundaries and substantial fences dividing the property into four large paddocks, and some smaller ones at the homestead. There is a good cottage of 4 rooms, &c., complete stockyards, three outlying stockyards, &c., &c.

Horses and sundries to be taken at a valuation.

LOT 2—THE CLAIRVIEW and PORPHYRY HILLS STATION, situated a few miles north of Broadsound and 20 miles from Willan i, comprising about 480 SQUARE MILES OF SUPERIOR CATTLE COUNTRY. Some portions of this run consist of open ridges and large creek flats, abounding with varied herbage. Nearer the coast there are very extensive marine plains, which are noted for the rapidity with which they FATTEN ALL KINDS OF STOCK. This property is very ABUNDANTLY WATERED IN EVERY DIRECTION by never-failing streams.

With CLAIRVIEW and PORPHYRY HILLS will be sold
5000 HEAD OF CATTLE, more or less,
a mixed herd, containing a good proportion of cows and heifers, bred with care for many years from the original stock obtained from the "St. Ruth's" and "Rosenthal" herds, Darling Downs and Irving's cows. The present herd are by bulls from Messrs. Clark Irving, Baldwin, Cobcroft, Durham, Lee, and the stud herd at Walhollow. There are 40 choice nearly pure heifers, by Messrs. Durham's bulls, in one of the paddocks.

THE IMPROVEMENTS comprise a cottage of 4 rooms, kitchen, &c., good stock and herding yards, large heifer and horse paddocks, &c., &c., all complete and convenient for working the property to advantage. Horses, stores, and sundries to be taken at a valuation.

LOT 3.—THE KELVIN GROVE or MOUNT FUNNEL STATION, situated 30 miles south of Port Mackay, and north of Clairview. THE AREA IS ABOUT 300 SQUARE MILES.

The country is similar to the preceding lots. Extensive marine plains, numerous flats, ABOUNDING WITH THE BEST KINDS OF FATTENING HERBAGE, interspersed with open bloodwood and ironbark ridges; every part is well and permanently watered.

With KELVIN GROVE, will be offered,
5500 HEAD OF CATTLE, more or less.

A mixed herd with a fair proportion of bullocks and steers. These cattle have been bred from the same original stock, and with the same care and attention as those on Willangi and Clairview.

THE IMPROVEMENTS comprise a 4-room cottage, stockyards, &c., &c.

Horses, stores, and sundries to be taken at a valuation.

LOT 4.—THE BASIN CREEK AND GILLINBIN STATION, situated between the Kelvin Grove and Porphyry Hills runs, and east of the well known Collaroy station.

There are about 200 SQUARE MILES OF WELL GRASSED, LIGHTLY TIMBERED COUNTRY, PERMANENTLY WATERED IN ALL SEASONS by Basin Marion, Westhill, and other creeks. These are stockyards, two paddocks, &c., &c.

THESE RUNS WILL BE OFFERED WITHOUT STOCK, and would either be a valuable adjunct to the Kelvin Grove and Porphyry Hills runs, or they COULD BE FORMED INTO A COMPACT CATTLE STATION.

☞ THESE VALUABLE RUNS contain an immense extent of really superior country, quite free from scrub, always admitted as being equal to THE FINEST PROPERTIES IN QUEENSLAND, and ESTIMATED TO GRAZE 40,000 CATTLE IN ALL SEASONS. They are within easy reach of the Rockhampton Market and meat preserving establishments, and are also CLOSE TO THE LARGE CENTRES OF POPULATION at the Peak Downs and sugar plantations at Port Mackay; all of them can, if required, be easily fenced, as they are bounded on the west by an impassable range, and on the east by the Pacific Ocean, while several deep rivers and creeks intersect the runs at most convenient distances for the purpose. That THE CATTLE ARE OF UNDOUBTED QUALITY AND BREEDING has been proved by the fact that the bullocks from these stations fattened on the Darling, INVARIABLY TOP THE MARKET IN MELBOURNE.

Either separately or collectively, they offer greatest opportunities for the investment of capital, and being for unreserved sale, Messrs. Brewster and Trebeck will be most happy to show intending purchasers THE EARLIEST AND MOST CONVENIENT ARRANGEMENTS to inspect the stations and stock before the day of sale.

Any further particulars may be obtained at the Rooms,
BREWSTER and TREBECK.

TITLE—Apply to Messrs. NORTON and BARKER, Solicitors, Elizabeth-street.

RAYNES, TREEVE, and CO. have received instructions to sell by public auction, at Mort's Rooms, Pitt-street, at 11 o'clock, on WEDNESDAY, 8th APRIL,

The remaining unsold portions of THE BISHOPTHORPE ESTATE,
the Glebe, comprising—
Allotments fronting Mount Vernon-street.

☞ The rapidity with which the whole of the allotments already leased have been built upon clearly shows the great value of property in this locality, and also that the system of 99 years' leases, and the great advantages arising therefrom, are being better understood and acted upon. The tenure is almost equal to a freehold, while it enables the purchaser, at a small annual rental, to secure the land, and expend his capital upon improvements which will at once yield him A PROFITABLE RETURN FOR HIS MONEY.

Men of limited capital or small means would do well to consider the very great inducements which a lease like this of long a period presents to them in particular. With nearly all the advantages of a freehold they are enabled to acquire A REALLY VALUABLE PROPERTY by payments of a trifling yearly rental.

The allotments have all 40 feet frontages, by depths of 106 feet, with back entrance to every lot. The streets in this neighbourhood are now made, while the city is rapidly extending in this direction, so that property in this locality cannot fail to increase in value every year.

LARGE PLAN on view at Mort's Rooms, Pitt-street, where every information can be obtained.

THURSDAY, 12th March next,
at 11 o'clock,
The above well-known and highly-appreciated pastoral properties, in four lots, viz.:—

LOT 1.—CALLIUNGAL.

This station is situated within the settled district of Port Curtis, and adjoins Westwood, the present Railway Terminus, about 30 miles from Rockhampton. It is acknowledged to be one of the finest cattle stations in Queensland, with the advantage of the Rockhampton market for its fat stock close to its own door. Until lately the greater part of its area was occupied by sheep, but the present proprietors have been gradually removing that description of stock, with the view of converting the run wholly into a large cattle station. Its capabilities for horned stock may be fairly stated at 12,000 to 14,000 head, as for many years past it has depastured on an average 4000 cattle and 37,000 sheep all the year round.

The character of the country is principally well-grassed open forest lands, box flats, and small plains. Every part is abundantly supplied with water, the run being intersected by the Rees, Don, and Callide, with the Alma and Centre Creeks; besides these supplies there are several large lagoons, two of which, each being nearly ¼ mile in length, have been justly named LAKE VICTORIA and LAKE CAROLINE.

The Calliungal Run, formerly consisting of numerous blocks, was some years since consolidated into three runs, called Calliungal Consolidation, Nos. 1, 2, and 3, and being within the settled districts they are subject to the Queensland Land Act of 1868, by which one half of each run was resumed, but the grazing right over it still continued with the lessee of the other moiety while it remained unsold.

The areas of the two portions of the run as shown by the GOVERNMENT GAZETTE, are as follows, viz:

	Resumed half	Leased half
Consolidation No. 1	76 square miles	74 square miles
" No. 2	213 " "	218 " "
" No. 3	126 " "	126 " "
	415	418

The annual rent for the whole property is £591 10s.

On the resumed half of consolidation No. 1, some few selections have been made near the Westward Railway Reserve, but otherwise no selections have been made on any parts of the run except by the proprietors, who have secured 9120 acres of excellent land in many blocks, each parcel being taken up with a view to command the most advantageous localities.

These lands will be included in the purchase-money at a fixed price per acre, and the vendor's right to make further selections to the extent of 7680 acres, at 10s per acre, without competition, will be transferred to the purchaser without cost.

IMPROVEMENTS.

These are of a high class, and both extensive and substantial.

At the head station on the Dee, the homestead comprises a superior and comfortable family residence, of seven rooms, built of sawn plank, with shingled roof, having a wide verandah all round, detached kitchen, and all other requisite out-buildings. Adjoining the house is an excellent garden well stocked with vines and fruit trees. The other buildings include overseer's cottage, with kitchen, store, cart-shed, stockyard, men's huts, smithy, and large paddocks for selected cattle and horse at 20s.

Large superior wool-shed, covered with iron, with drafting yards adjoining, and a small cultivation paddock.

At the Callide, on Lake Victoria, hitherto the head cattle station, there are extensive and very substantial stockyards, equal to drafting a large herd; manager's cottage, kitchen, and stockman's hut; horse and cattle paddocks on a large scale, having half-a-mile frontage to Lake Victoria, and capable of working the largest herd of cattle, besides a large and secure bullock paddock of about 10,000 acres, magnificently grassed, and watered by the Callide and Krombit Rivers, and by numerous lagoons.

The out-stations are as follows:—

1.—On the ALMA—Overseer's cottage and horse paddock, besides large paddocks hitherto used for sheep, but easily made available for cattle, having constant running water in every direction, and being securely enclosed by shock and log fences and posts and wires, and part with cattle-strand wires for top.

2.—On LAKE CAROLINE—A large area of purchased land, over 8000 acres in extent, is now being fenced in, and when completed, at vendor's expense, will form a most valuable fattening paddock, being richly grassed throughout, and embracing the whole eastern frontage of the Lake, about one mile in length, with several constantly running streams through it. On this land there is a hut for stockman in charge of that portion of the run; there are also several other huts on various parts of the property. The following stock will be sold with Calliungal, and the vendors beg particular attention to their superior quality, viz.,

6,500 CATTLE, more or less
15,000 SHEEP, more or less
250 HORSES, more or less.

The herd of cattle has for many years past received great attention, and no expense has been spared in serving it with the best bulls obtainable, amongst which may be mentioned some from the noted studs of Mr. Lee, of Bathurst, and Messrs. Archer, of Greenmeers, in addition to which there have been added to the stud from time to time imported and colonial bred pure-bred bulls. Three, viz., BRIDEGROOM and ADONIS, both imported, and DUKE OF WELLINGTON, bred by Messrs. Fanning, Griffiths, and Co., at Wooroowoolgen, on the Richmond, it will be at the option of the purchaser to take at a valuation or fixed price, or they will be removed. The pedigrees of the bulls named are as follows, viz.:—

BRIDEGROOM, calved 3rd September, 1867, by Second Duke of Cumberland (23736), out of Blushing Bride, by Great Mogul (14651). See Stud-book.

ADONIS, calved 15th July, 1867, by Knight of Gwynne (24273), out of Perfection, by Bannerman (19258). See Stud-book.

DUKE OF WELLINGTON, calved 15th January, 1871, branded D in diamond near rump, No. 70 on near ribs, got by Bosphorus (imported) out of a pure bred D in diamond cow by Prince of Prussia (15103). See New South Wales Herd Book.

. It may be mentioned that a number of their progeny, three quarters and half bred, are now on the run, and will be counted in the general muster. The above herd will be mustered and delivered, all counted to rank as cattle, with a liberal per-centage deducted from the total number of the herd for calves under six months old. The right of brand will belong to the purchaser on final delivery of the run.

SHEEP.—These are all well-bred, and yield good fleeces of superior wool—the flocks include about 800 stud ewes, selected with great care, and have increase about 70 per cent. by first-class rams, principally by seven choice Mudgee rams from the noted flocks of Charles Cox, Esq., some of which rams cost £50 each.

HORSES.—The Callungal breed are noted in the district both as superior hacks and stanch draught; a large number of the latter have been carefully bred for some years past, and their quality has created such a local demand that the supply can hardly keep pace with it.

The noted stallion WINDSOR will be included with the herd.

STORES.—Drays, teams, machinery, wire, and other working plant and belongings are to be taken by valuation, by the usual mode of arbitration.

LOT 2.—INKERMAN AND LEICHHARDT DOWNS.

This magnificent cattle property, situate at the mouth of the Burdekin River, midway between Bowen and Townsville, from either of which towns it is distant about 60 miles, is universally admitted to be unsurpassed by any cattle run in North Queensland, either in regard to its position, being close to a market, the quality of its pasture, or the abundance of its water supply. It comprises the blocks Inkerman, Leichhardt Downs, Springfield, and, by arrangement with the Hon. Thomas Holt, the western halves of Tondara, Kirkney, and Kilbogie; and by the Government map is estimated to contain 620 square miles, subject to an annual rental of £315 10s. It adjoins on the east the extensive run of Salisbury Plains, belonging to Hon. Thomas Holt, and is separated on the south by the River Bogie from Strathalbyn and Strathbogie, the property of L. Fane De Salis, Esq. This large scope of country may fairly be stated to be practically fenced in on its two long sides by the waters of the Burdekin River, to which it has a frontage of about 44 miles separating it from the Jarvisfield and Woodhouse Runs. Arrangements have been entered into with the Hon. Thomas Holt for jointly fencing the boundary line between this station and Salisbury Plains, a considerable portion has been already completed, and contracts are now being made for the remainder, about 23 miles, which contracts will have to be carried out and paid for as to one moiety, by the purchaser of this property, the other half being defrayed by Mr. Holt. This fence, when finished, will completely enclose the run, the other portion being already fenced or bounded by water as mentioned.

The character of the country is fine grass, both for breeding and fattening purposes. It consists principally of open forest lands, round ridges, and fine plains all well watered and thickly grassed; and the carrying capacity of the run is moderately estimated at 12,000 head.

Inkerman is within the settled districts, and therefore subject to the Land Act of 1868, by which one-half is resumed for selection; but the grazing right remains to the lessee of the other half. Only a few selections have been taken up, and these, being on the boundary of the run, cause no inconvenience to the property.

The improvements are as follows, viz.:—

At INKERMAN.—A superintendent's cottage of four rooms, with kitchen, stockman's hut, and large stockyard, capable of working 2000 head of cattle. Horse paddock of about 800 acres.

At LEICHHARDT DOWNS.—A substantial cottage of six rooms, with kitchen, blacksmith's shop, completely fitted; large stabling (or bull house) for 10 bulls; good stockyard, and two horse paddocks of about 500 and 300 acres respectively.

Purchased Land.—On the Inkerman block there are 7845 acres of purchased land, selected to command the most favoured parts of the run, and some of the best water.

With these stations will be sold—
7000 CATTLE, more or less,
and 35 HORSES, more or less.
To be mustered, delivered, and counted in like manner with the Calliungal herd.

These cattle are very well bred, and have attained a high reputation, both as fat and store stock in the Victorian markets, where the drafts have invariably obtained extreme prices—but the gold-fields at Charters Towers and Ravenswood—these latter diggings being but 40 miles distant—with the requirements of Bowen and Townsville, have created such a demand for fat cattle, that more distant markets have not now to be resorted to.

By a general muster of the herd recently made it was ascertained that there are about 1500 bullocks over 2 years old, and about 48 highly-bred bulls, principally the produce of Lee's stock and imported shorthorns. A draft of three-quarter and half bred bulls from Calliungal are now on their way to the station, and may be taken by the purchaser at the cost price of £18 per head.

The horses, stores, and other working plant must be taken by valuation, and the purchased land at a fixed price per acre.

LOT 3.—WOODSTOCK AND JARVISFIELD.

These extensive runs commence on the Burdekin River, about 40 miles from Townsville, and stretch away to the back of Townsville, where the Woodstock blocks have frontage to the Houghton River, and are also supplied by the permanent waters of Major's Creek, running through them. Together, these runs, viz., Jarvisfield East and West, Woodstock, Wyoming, Cleveland Plains, Cintra, Magenta, and Lansdowne, cover an area of about 478 square miles, but as there are several miles of unoccupied country lying between the Jarvisfield and the Woodstock runs, the area for depasturing is practically greatly in excess of those figures. The character of the country is excellent, whether for breeding or fattening, and consists of plains, open forests, and occasional swamps, the latter of great value during the heat of summer. The run is well watered throughout, rendering every acre available for depasturing stock. It also has the advantage of having within its limits the high-soaring Mount Elliot, whose cap attracts all water-laden clouds, and ensures a periodical inexhaustible supply.

IMPROVEMENTS.

At Jarvisfield—Overseer's cottage, good stockyard, and horse paddock equal to 30 head all the year round.

At Woodstock.—Comfortable cottage of five rooms, for manager; good stockyard, fit for all requirements; horse paddock, about 640 acres, freehold.

At Serpentine Creek out-station, on the noted chain of ponds, there are overseer's cottage, men's hut, substantial stockyard (new), and securely-enclosed paddock of about 600 acres. Fencing.—On the northern part of Jarvisfield, bounded by Plantation Creek, which runs about parallel to the Burdekin, advantage has been taken of the configuration of the country to enclose a large area by comparatively short fences (of 3-wire and top-rail) making a capital weaning or heifer paddock, quite equal to 3000 head all the year round. There is also a well-grassed horse-paddock.

The following stock will be sold with these properties viz.:—
7000 cattle more or less
260 horses "
to be mustered and delivered, all to count as above mentioned.

These cattle, originally well chosen from the choice Clarence River herds, have been always well looked after, and no expense has been spared in supplying good bulls to ensure the high character of the original stock being maintained. They are all remarkably quiet and fatten well, and have always commanded the highest price in the important seaport of Townsville, which market may be said to lie on the outskirts of the station.

HORSES.—The stock horses number about 90, in addition to which there is a breeding herd of 100 mares, colts, and fillies, and two thoroughbred entires, viz., Carlisle, of the noted Cossack blood, bred by Mr. C. Reynolds, of Tocal; and Strathmore by Dutchman—vide Stud Book. These stock, with the stores and other belongings, will have to be taken by valuation in the usual way.

Government rent, £264 10s. per annum.

LOT 4.—NEWSTEAD.

This VALUABLE FREEHOLD ESTATE, containing about 6898 acres of rich grassing land, open forest, and small plains, lies on the sea-coast, about 7 miles south of the town of Bowen. A large portion is substantially fenced by three wires and top rail, forming a paddock for the herd of pure-bred cattle, being abundantly and permanently watered. Within it is a small cultivation paddock, and the following improvements, viz.:—Comfortable verandah cottage of 4 rooms, kitchen with two rooms; store, stockyard, and stabling for bulls—a substantial building, containing ten stalls—eight 12 feet by 12, and two smaller ones for forages.

The herd to be sold with this estate numbers
200 CHOICE COWS,
selected with great judgment from the best herds, and four pure bred bulls, viz.:—

ROB ROY.—Red roan, bred by Fanning, Griffiths, and Co., at Wooroowoolgan, Richmond River; by Sir John, dam pure bred (554), by Prince of Prussia (15103).

SAILOR BOY 2nd.—Dark roan, bred at Wooroowoolgan; by Sailor Boy, dam pure bred (546), by Prince of Prussia (15103).

SEVENTH DUKE OF THORNDALE, 2 years old, by Sceptre out of Gratitude. SCEPTRE, calved July, 1867, by Second Duke of Cumberland (No. 23,736), dam Regalia by 4th Duke of Thorndale (17,750); for last-named bull eleven hundred guineas were offered and refused. GRATITUDE, born 7th February, 1867, by Monarch (20,867), out of Graceful 5th, by King John (14,763). See Stud Book.

EIGHTH DUKE OF THORNDALE, born 22nd October, 1872, by SCEPTRE out of GRATITUDE.

The above valuable freehold property will be sold for a lump sum, to include land and stud herd; stores and working plant to be paid for additionally by the usual mode of arbitration. As an estate for breeding high classbulls, for which the demand in northern and western Queensland is increasing; and as a depot for fat stock from more distant runs for the markets of Bowen and Townsville—this property cannot be too highly regarded; and as it, as well as the several stations forming lots 1 to 3, are intended to be sold to close up the partnership estate of the late Hon. Robert Towns, capitalists should not lose sight of the opportunity of making profitable investments under favourable circumstances of some of the finest cattle properties in Queensland.

TERMS.—One-third cash; balance by promissory notes, at one, two, and three years' date, with 7 per centum per annum. Interest secured by mortgage.

With "MOUNT ENNISKILLEN" and "BIRKHEAD" Stations will be sold 5500 cattle, more or less.

Special attention is called to the extensive grazing capabilities of MOUNT ENNISKILLEN in comparison with the small number of cattle to be sold with it. Allowing the large area of 15 acres to one head of cattle, the run has a capacity for nearly 25,000 head.
Horses (about 60 head), working bullocks, working plant, stores, implements, &c., to be taken by the purchaser at a valuation.
N.B.—Every attention has been paid to the breeding of the sheep, and they have been culled every year for some years past.

W. Chisholm's. These has also been recently added a thoroughbred young bull by "Littlebury."

together with 49,837 Sheep.

MORT and CO. have received instructions from William B. Tooth, Esq., to sell by public auction, at their Wool Warehouses, Circular Quay, Sydney, on THURSDAY, the 19th day of MARCH, 1874, at 11 o'clock,
THE TALAVERA STATION,
situated in the very centre of the VICTORIA DOWNS, on the BALONNE RIVER, and 140 miles from the township of DALBY.
This property, comprising 10 blocks, has an area of 250 square miles of beautiful downs country, thickly grassed, with abundance of salt-bush and other nutritious herbs, making it eminently suitable for fattening or breeding; and in consequence of its salubrious climate, the worm or other sheep diseases have never been known to exist.
The whole country is SPLENDIDLY WATERED, having a TEN-MILE frontage to both banks of the BALONNE RIVER, and embracing the waters of WERIBONE CREEK, MIDDLE CREEK, HORSE CREEK, YALEBONE CREEK, and BUNGIL CREEK, besides numerous LAGOONS.
The sheep to be sold with this station are notably well-bred, and the flocks (having been very closely culled for some years past for meat-preserving purposes) are now in first-rate condition, and consist of the following ages and sexes, viz.:—

3,970	more or less	Wethers	.. 1½ years
6,861	"	ditto	.. 2½ to 5 years

THE CLIP has a well-established reputation in the London market, and realises the highest prices.
There will also be sold with the above a small herd of WELL-BRED CATTLE, with the right of brand.
The station is well supplied with broken-in horses, as well as some good brood mares.
FOUR OF THE BLOCKS, containing 100 square miles, are entirely FENCED IN AND SUBDIVIDED INTO PADDOCKS in the most substantial manner with wire and hardwood; and, being held by 21 years' lease under the Land Act of 1868, the lessee is entitled during the currency of the leases to the pre-emptive purchase of 10,000 acres at a fixed price of 10s per acre; so that by a judicious selection he could well protect himself from any future interference.
The present proprietor has spent an immense amount of money during the past few years in adding to the IMPROVEMENTS, which now consists of two very strong STOCK YARDS, and one HERDING YARD, in different points of the station. The WOOLSHED, lately built (with a view to the ultimate shearing of 100,000 sheep), is of sawn timber, with iron roof, and every convenience for shearing 12,000 sheep per week. The approaches to the shed are over RATTENED YARDS, erected several feet from the ground, to avoid dust after washing. A SCREW PRESS, powerful enough to dump the bales on the station: WOOL STORE, capable of holding upwards of 200 bales wool: WASH POOL of particularly soft water, with STEAM ENGINE, CENTRIFUGAL PUMP, and SPOUT TANKS attached. Also, SOAK TANK, 32 x 4, with the most approved hot-water appliances; superintendent's and head overseer's cottages, stores, men's huts, sheep yards, and all the necessary buildings for the effective working of first-class sheep station.
The carrying capabilities of this station are estimated at about double the present number of stock.
